

ABSTRACT OF TALK – “What is hot in Silicon Valley?”

The Silicon Valley in the United States is the prime location where many world famous hi-tech companies such as APPLE, INTEL, ORACLE, CISCO, Hewlett Packard reside and evolve. In fact, Silicon Valley is the hi-tech economic propeller of the United States, without which, the USA economy would lose a huge portion. It is also the place where smartest engineers would love to work and live in. They are highly compensated, and few countries in the world could recognize engineers to that degree. In addition, Silicon Valley is also the place for startups, i.e., new companies.

YAHOO, EBAY, and GOOGLE started as small and new companies before they became who they are today. Silicon Valley is the home for entrepreneurs and investors (VCs). In this talk, I will introduce briefly the Silicon Valley and some latest startups/companies working in specific hot technology areas. I will also briefly cover aspects of founding your own company and what it entails
